Trip Overview

Mesokanto Pass Trekking is a technical and adventurous trip into the Annapurna Himalayan range of Nepal. The trip lies above Tilicho Lake (4949m), the highest lake in the world. The lake is about 1 km wide and 4 km long.

The trail passes through rocky and panoramic views of snowy mountains and crosses the Mesokanto pass (5,100 m). Walking around the magnificent mountain views and natural landscapes is an exhilarating pass. Spring and Autumn are the primary Trekking season of every year.

We do have a fixed departure group for 2024 and 2025. Contact us for more information regarding the trek on WhatsApp at +9779851033819 or inquire through email now.

The Mesokanto-La pass trekking is a highly incredible pass. It has multiple views and cultural heritage lies on the trail. It is peaceful and exciting but a bit hard to move forward. Hiking in Mesokanto provides splendid Himalayan views of Mount Manaslu (8163m), Dhaulagiri (8167m), Annapurna (8091m), and Muktinath Himalayan range from the top of the Meso Kanto pass.

The course goes by the Marshyangdi River and the ancient valley of Manang. Trek to Mesokanto La starts from Kathmandu Center Bus Park and goes to Chamje, or you can pick up private vehicles from Kathmandu. Boundless Adventure is a Trekking company with highly experienced guides for the trekking route of Mesokanto.

Safety measures and acclimatization at high altitudes are major concerns. If you need more information about the trip, Contact us.

Tailor-Made Trip and Departure

Mesokanto (Tilicho Lake) Pass Trekking is a moderate trip that begins with a west drive from Kathmandu. We have fixed departures for such Trekking according to the best trekking seasons. Despite that, we will also organize the trekking on a date suitable for you. When you inform us about the customized date and itinerary, we manage the best tailor-made trip for you.

Accommodations in Kathmandu range from standard to five-star hotels. Still, during the Mesokanto pass (Tilicho Lake) Trekking, clean, basic accommodation lodges, also known as tea houses, are available. We arrange the lodge with basic facilities along the trekking area, as you are trekking through the Annapurna Circuit Trekking.

Our team will organize the subject to make the best accommodations during the trek to Meso Kanto Pass in the Annapurna conservation area.

AMS and Altitude Sickness

Mesokanta La Pass takes you to the hidden pass beyond the famous Tilicho Lake. This trek traverses through the key located at 5025 meters. The maximum elevation of this traverse takes you beyond 5,000 meters, making it prone to Acute Mountain Sickness.

Following a professionally designed itinerary that accounts for enough rest days in between is recommended. Also, a gradual climb with proper hydration is paramount for this traverse. Mesokanta-La Pass is a challenging trek with technical difficulties; it is recommended that you read our blog, How to deal with high altitude sickness in the Himalayas, for detailed information.

Best Trekking Season

Mesokanto Pass Trekking is best in Spring (March to June) and Autumn (September to December). The moderate temperatures guarantee impressive views throughout the trip. Boundless Adventure does not operate during the monsoon season in Nepal.

Mesokanto Pass Trekking Important

We, the Boundless Adventure team, will make the best arrangements for the Mesokanto Pass (Tilicho Lake) Trekking trip. However, some issues can be beyond our control. Heavy rainfall and landslides can extend the trip, but there is little probability of this.

Trip Itinerary

The Meso Kanto Pass trekking itinerary starts from Kathmandu, Nepal. It is an 18-day round trip from Kathmandu, including Kathmandu Valley sightseeing, and the trekking ends in Pokhara. We need to start the Mesokanto trek by jeep from Kathmandu.

The trekking trail has tea houses and Breakfast, Lunch, and dinner, but we need to have a camp for two nights only, and we have to take cooking gear, tents, and climbing gear.

Similarly, the Mesokanto pass trekking adventure involves crossing 4949 meters from sea level. Please have a look at the itinerary below and contact us now.

Day 01: Arrive at Kathmandu airport (1345m). and overnight

Day 03: Drive to Chamje (1425m)

The first day of our trek is spent driving to the core of Manang district, Chamje. We board our jeep, which will exit Kathmandu Valley via Nagdhunga. We follow along the Trishuli River via Prithvi Highway.

After traversing 130 kilometers, we reach Dumre in the Tanahun district. From here, the road diverges and heads north towards Lamjung district. After 40 kilometers of travel, we reach Besisahar, the district's headquarters of Lamjung district. You will have a smooth paved road until Besisahar.

From here on, we take the mountainous roadway that travels alongside the Marsyangdi River, originating from the high Annapurna ranges. The road after Besisahar is filled with rocky terrain, uneven pathways, and landslide-prone slopes.

You will have occasional views of Nadi Chuli and Lamgunj Himal along the way. It's a 3 hours drive from Besisahar to Chamje, our overnight stop.

Day 04: Trek to Dharapani (1960m) overnight

Your second day of trekking begins in Chamje. We begin our trek after breakfast at the teahouse. Within minutes of starting the hike, we cross over the Marsyangdhi River through a suspension bridge. This could be a first-time experience for many. The bridge shivers as you step onto it.

After about 1 hour of trek, we reach Tal village on the river bank. You will have repeated sightings of turquoise water, mani walls, horses and mules, small shortens, and prayer wheels. The trail in this stretch is easygoing, with only gradual ascents at some points. The trail, for the most part, takes on the flat plains of the Marsyangdhi river basin through small villages. You will reach Dharapani in the evening for your night's stay.

Dharapani is the crossroad point for the famous Manaslu Circuit Trek and Annapurna Circuit Trek.

Day 05: Trek to Chame (2710m) overnight

Our 5th day of the trek begins with a riverside walk along the village of Dharapani. After a short trek, we reach a crossroad with the pathway heading north towards Himlung Himal Base Camp.

We continue with the hike along the Marsyangdhi River. Today's trek stretch traverses towards the district headquarters of Manang, Chame village. The total duration of the trek ranges from 6-7 hours.

The trail first traverses through the UN paved road with a flat surface. As we reach Bagarchhap, the trail ascends steeply through the rocky hills. The trail navigates through the narrow corridors cut by the river.

We cross the river multiple times via a suspension bridge. Before reaching Chame, We make several rest stops between the villages: Lata Marang, Danagyu, and Koto Qupar.

Located in the narrowed alleyways of the Marsyangdhi River, Chame is a bustling village in the Manang district. This village is the district's headquarters and is densely populated.

There are lots of government offices and administrative organizations here. There is a district regional hospital with sophisticated equipment. Chame will be your overnight stop for the day.

Day 12: Cross the Mesokanto La (5025m) to Kharka, camp (3600m). 5 hrs.

The eleventh day marks the most significant day of this trek. We traverse the highest point of the trek, Mesokanta La. The trail begins on a softer side of the pathway with an easily navigable path. The trail demands a gradual ascent until Tilicho northern moraine. From here begins the switch-back ascent with a path leading to the top of Mesokanta La. This pass bestows views of Mt. Shya Gang, Mt. Khatung Kang, Mt. Yakwakang, and numerous other mountains on a clear day. The pass is filled with glacial ice and snow dome. We start our descent from the Mesokanta-La pass, which is pretty straightforward.

That being said, sections of rocky pathways remain slippery most of the time. Be careful during the descent. We traverse over various cairns scattered along the trail. There are various shepherd sheds scattered along the route. After 3 hours of descent, we reach our campsite for the day at Kharka.

Day 14: Trek to Kalopani (2530 m) overnight

The day begins with a walk on the flatlands of Mustang villages. We start walking westward, following along the banks of the Kaligandaki River. Mustang's dry and barren hills are enormous and remain dry for most of the year. This area is howling with strong storms during the winter time.

Our trail takes the graveled roadway through various villages. We cross the Kaligandaki River via the suspension bridge multiple times, taking shortcuts. We pass through various Marpha, Tukuche, Khwanti, Kobang, and Larjung villages before reaching Kalopani. The villages in this area have thatched roof stone-built houses. You will have typical Apple pie and apple crumble, the local delicacy of Kalopani.

Along the way, you will have an amusing view of Mt.Dhaulagiri (8163m) and Annapurna I(8091m). Kalopani is surrounded by Sub-tropical pine forests on all sides. You encounter greenery. We stay at Kalopani for the night.
